AUSTRIA WARNED OF ITALY'S POWER

Before Failure of Offensive Vienna Paper Predicted a Difficult Task.

Rome.—An editorial leader in the Neue Freie Presse of Vienna, written before the failure of the Austrian offensive, is significant. The paper said: "In reading the Italian papers, we have got the impression that the country has recovered after the defeat of Caporetto. The socialists are not well enough organized to oppose the course of events (referring doubtless to the change of front of the pacifist socialists, who have stated that they will support the government whilst the country is invaded.)

"Under America's protection Premier Orlando has started his Slavophile policy. The army supports this policy. The anti-Austrian campaign in Italy should not be taken lightly.

"Mussolini, leader of the interventionist socialists, a volunteer since the first day of the war and decorated for bravery in the field, is the most popular man in Italy. He is still young and ambitious. His articles inflame the soldiers, and most of the civil population as well. He has mobilized mutilated soldiers and officers, who are making war propaganda throughout the peninsula.

"The country's economic conditions are not so bad as we thought, and we must not count on any help through food shortage. America and England furnish Italy with as much as possible."

Such a confession coming before Vienna knew of the check on the first day's offensive and published in a prominent place in the most powerful organ in Austria is very significant.

NO REFORM WANTED CRIES "UNCOVERED KING OF PRUSSIA"

(Copyright, 1918, by the New York World.)

The Hague.—The latest triumph of democracy in Germany means that princes will be forced to pay postage.

As a result of criticism by numerous reichstag members over the special privileges of princely houses during the recent tax debates, the federal council has decided to submit a law to the reichstag limiting the privilege to members of the reigning houses.

The outlook for real democracy in Germany, however, is to be gathered from a speech by Herr von Heydebrand, the "uncrowned King of Prussia," to a convention of Silesian conservatives, in which he said:

"What made Prussia what it is today? The old authority from above, a mania for general equality. We will have no social democratic Utopian state. We have as much freedom as we need. Democracy is war. We conservatives will adapt ourselves to new times. We may even let ourselves be pressed back a little, but we will not suffer ourselves to be suppressed by an equal electoral law."

VON KUEHLMANN REMOVED RESULT RECENT SPEECH?

Such Event Anticipated—German Chancellor's Statements Had Depressing Effect.

(Associated Press.) London, June 27.—The removal from office of Dr. Richard von Kuehlmann, the German foreign secretary, can be anticipated judging from comments in conservative and pan-German newspapers on his reichstag speech, the Berlin correspondent of the Frankfurter Zeitung says, according to a Central News dispatch from Amsterdam.

Offered Stone For Bread.

(Associated Press.) London, June 27.—One of the most criticized points in the reichstag speech of Foreign Secretary Von Kuehlmann was his reference to negotiations, not military decisions, ending the war, according to dispatches reaching London.

Dr. Gustav Stresemann, the national liberal leader, Count von Westarp, conservative and others protested warmly against this statement. Dr. Stresemann said the speech had a most depressing effect. It offered the German people, he added, stones for bread. The deputy declared that not negotiations but hammer blows brought peace in the east and said that the reason that the world refused to believe in German victories is because German statesmen are almost afraid to mention them. In reply the foreign secretary explained that what he meant was that military success must be followed by diplomatic negotiations. Chancellor Von Hertling also emphasized the same point, declaring that Von Kuehlmann's statement must not be regarded as weakening the German determination for victory.

Don't Let Soap Spoil Your Hair

When you wash your hair, be careful what you use. Most soaps and prepared shampoos contain too much alkali, which is very injurious, as it dries the scalp and makes the hair brittle.

The best thing to use is just plain mulsified coconut oil, for this is pure and entirely greaseless. It's very cheap, and beats the most expensive soaps or anything else all to pieces. You can get this at any drug store, and a few ounces will last the whole family for months.

Simply moisten the hair with water and rub it in, about a teaspoonful is all that is required. It makes an abundance of rich creamy lather, cleanses thoroughly, and rinses out easily. The hair dries quickly and evenly, and is soft, fresh looking, bright, fluffy, wavy and easy to handle. Besides, it loosens and takes out every particle of dust, dirt and dandruff.—(Adv.)

TROCO*The Successor to Butter

Made From the White Meat of Tropic Coconuts

WHILE European countries have long used butter made from cocoanuts, America has perfected the de luxe product. The flavor of Troco is only rivaled by the finest dairy product. The more critical you are the better you will appreciate the quality of Troco.

Your enjoyment of this new delicacy is increased by the thought of its appetizing ingredients. The fat from the same dainty white coconut meat you use shredded on cake and pure pasteurized milk is an appealing combination.

The fastidious care used in every process of making is another recommendation. The makers of Troco specialize in this one product.

High Nutritive Value

Troco, like butter, is invaluable energy food of the highest nutritive value. It is equally digestible and easily assimilated.

It is not a substitute for butter, but really butter's successor, solving the butter problem for millions.

Old laws, made before this great discovery, compel us to label it as an oleomargarine, but Troco contains no animal oils—and no preservatives—it is made only from vegetable fats and milk—wholesome, natural ingredients. A capsule of the same vegetable coloring used by butter makers supplied with every carton by your grocer.

Judge It for Quality Alone

Troco wins users on quality alone. You should judge it from this standpoint only. Compare it to the finest creamery butter you have ever used. Serve it without explanation. The unanimous verdict will be "Please pass the Troco."
